Class Note

We've had so much fun getting to know each of our students and their families these last couple months. Observing your student learn through exploration while meeting milestones have been very exciting! All of our friends have been working really hard using self-help skills during meal time as well as applying problem solving techniques throughout the day.

For the month of November, we have a lot of fun and cool activities planned including tons of personal art projects. We are super excited to welcome Fall! In addition, if you have any questions or concerns, please feel free to reach out to us! We're here to help and support you through our learning journey together!
