Room 8 Mrs. Field & Mrs. Beasley

We were so glad to start enjoying warmer weather. We got our hands dirty planting during Gardening week. We loved watching our caterpillars grow and turn into beautiful butterflies, it was so exciting setting them free and letting them fly away. We had a lot of mooing, oinking, and quacking going on during our Farm week. Now, we are anxiously awaiting the arrival of our chicks. They should be hatching any day now. We had fun celebrating Week of the Young Child with all our activities and visiting our older friends across the street. We are now learning about Beatrix Potter and are being introduced to all her animal friends/characters.

Our May Themes:

April 23-May 4 Beatrix Potter / N
7-11 Mother's Day
14-25 Eric Carle / W
28-June 1 Rainforest / X

FYI

Three & Four year olds are usually more frustrated than they were as toddlers. Here are some ways you might communicate with children when their frustrations and tempers show:

- "I'm curious what happened here." (Instead of "What did you do?")
- "It is okay to be mad, but it is not okay to be mean."
- "Calm first, talk second. Do you need help to calm down or can you do that on your own?"
- "I see you are mad. It's not okay to hurt, break, or throw."
- "It is totally okay to feel angry, I would too. When you can, find some words to tell me so I can help you find an answer or help you with what you need."
